WEAK CORN START IS GIVEN REVERSAL

Chicago, Jan. 20.—A general belief that the increased Northwest arrivals of late have been principally delayed trainloads. May closed at $1.09, with July at $1.05-5.

The future grain ranged over from 3-4 to 1-2c. A noticeable demand from country traders changed a weak start in the corn pit to an appreciable advance.

After falling off from 1-8 to 3-8 cents in the opening trades the futures gathered strength and moved over a range of from 1-16 to 1-8c. May advancing from 67-14c to 68-34c. May closed 1-2 to 5-8c higher than yesterday's final quotations, at 68-18c. The other futures showed an advance.

SELLING OLEO IN OGDEN STORES

STATE INSPECTOR HAD TO CAUTION THE DEALERS.

Now Signs Are Displayed Reading "Oleomargarine"—General Sanitary Condition Is Good.

Deputy State Food and Dairy Inspector Simon Hansen, is in the city looking after foodstuffs and, incidentally, inquiring into sanitary regulations. He was joined this morning by Assistant Inspector Heber C. Smith, who came down from Logan last evening.

Mr. Hansen and Mr. Smith will visit the sugar factory today for the purpose of looking after the sanitary regulations at that institution. Mr. Hansen inspected the Lewiston and Logan factories of the Ogden Amalgamated Sugar company, and found them to be in the best of condition. He states that the factories of the north are as nearly perfect in sanitary regulation as it is possible to be.

The gentleman states that there was a time when "blueins" was used to give the sugar a handsome color, but that it is not attempted any more. The law of the nation is strictly against it.

In speaking of the sanitary condition of the city, Mr. Hansen says that he finds the butcher shops, grocery stores, and other places where foodstuffs are kept to be in good condition. He also says that he finds at the present time but few infractions of the pure food law in Ogden. In one or two places in the city, however, he has found "oleomargarine," a substitute for butter, being sold. It is not against the law to sell it, but the law provides that where it is being sold a notice to that effect must be hung in a conspicuous place. The law, in this respect is being violated. The parties handling the product, were ignorant of the law's provisions, and when advised regarding the law, were willing to comply with it.

FEEDING SHEEP AT THE TOWN OF HYLAND

A letter received from an Ogdenite located in the town of Hyland, Utah, near Corinne, gives a flattering account of that section. The letter, in part, follows:

"The weather has been near the zero point for some time and there has been but very little thawing since last fall. The sheep men who have secured hay in this locality are lucky.

"Frank Hyland, so well known in Ogden, is supplying eight herds of sheep, meaning about twenty thousand head, with hay. And only two miles from here, the sheep men can get all the grain they want at very reasonable prices.

"Those who are feeding here are smiling to themselves because of their good fortune in getting into this little neck of the woods. The sheep were transferred from the summer range with a remarkably low rate of loss. The herds have plenty of hay and grain to eat, are furnished with good shelter, and everything is rosy for the sheepmen.

"This little place and the country generally, is coming to the front. We have postoffice that is within a stone's throw of the school house, so that we are in touch with the outside world and have the opportunity of giving our children a good education."

MINERAL OUTPUT SHOWS INCREASE

Washington, Jan. 20.—The production of both gold and silver in the United States increased in the calendar year 1909, according to preliminary estimates made by A. Platt Andrews, director of the mint. These show the gold production to have been $99,232,200 as against $94,560,900 for 1908; silver, $3,849,000 fine ounces, an increase over the previous year of 1,408,200 fine ounces. At the average price of silver, $0.52016 per fine ounce for the year, the commercial value of the silver product for 1909 would amount to $28,010,100.

Nevada shows an apparent increase in her gold output of $3,219,000; California, $1,941,000; and Alaska, $1,088,800. Colorado shows a decrease of $916,300 and South Dakota $892,300.

The decrease in the latter state is attributable to the closing down of the works of the Homestake mine on account of labor troubles. Montana shows an increase in her silver output of 1,64,800 fine ounces; Utah, 1,088,100 fine ounces; and Arizona 722,200 fine ounces. The greatest decrease in the silver production were: Colorado, 1,056,600 fine ounces; Nevada, 555,500 fine ounces; and Idaho 503,800 fine ounces.

INSPECTING ROAD ACROSS THE LAKE

W. H. Bancroft and Party on a Special Train Bound For Rambo— Trip Made Prior to Commencing Extensive Improvements in Anticipation of High Water This Spring.

With the waters of Great Salt Lake now topping last year's high water mark, and the certainty of still higher water during the coming spring, the necessity for raising the grade at Rambo, at the western end of the Ogden-Lucan cut-off, on the Southern Pacific, has become more pronounced, and the work of elevating the tracks will begin at an early date.

A party of officials, including General Manager W. H. Bancroft, Chief Engineer William Ashton, General Superintendent J. M. Davis, Superintendent E. C. Manson and Resident Engineer Thomas Fitzgerald are spending today in an inspection of the trestle bridging the lake, and investigating especially the conditions at the western end. The party left Ogden by special train at 10:30 o'clock.

At the western end of the trestle the grade declines five feet in a distance of 5,000 feet. At the present stage of the lake the water at the western end of the cut-off is within two or three feet of the tracks, and there is the possibility that with the continued rise of the waters the track may be flooded for a short distance. To obviate this possibility, the shore end will be raised to conform to the level of the eleven-mile stretch of the trestle track, this level being of sufficient height to escape any washing from the high water.

LIBERALS ARE LOSING

Unionists Continue to Make Gains on the Party in Power

London, Jan. 21.—Twenty-five returns made early today out of the thirty-five left over from yesterday's elections for Parliament give the Unionists 13 seats, the Liberals 10, Laborites 1 and Irish Nationalists 1, a Unionist gain of six seats, without any losses.

Returns from the thirty-five constituencies which were polled for members of Parliament yesterday, but the results from which were not known until today, are now complete and the seats are proportioned as follows:

Unionists, 18; Liberals, 13; Laborites, 2; Nationalists, 2.

This is a Unionist gain of nine seats without a single loss. At the dissolution of the last parliament, the same constituencies were represented by 21 Liberals, 9 Unionists, 3 Laborites and 2 Nationalists.

The National standing of the parties this afternoon is: Government coalition—Liberals, 150;

Irish Nationalists, 8; Laborites 31.

Opposition—Unionists, 181.

Thus the Unionists have already secured thirteen more seats than they held at the time the last parliament was dissolved and more than one-third of the members of the new parliament are still to be elected.

London University, which has been voting this week and completed its poll tonight, re-elected Sir Philip Magnus, Unionist.

This makes the Unionists total to date 182 or one more than the combined Liberal and Labor membership thus far determined.

MAGGIE TOUT WILL BE HEARD BY OGDENITES

Miss Maggie Tout, an Ogden girl who has won her way to fame and recognition in Europe through her meritorious voice, will shortly return to her old home after an absence of years on the continent. This news is contained in a letter received from E. F. Tout, and will be welcomed by the musical set of Ogden and the old friends of Miss Tout who will be anxious to see her after her triumphs and hear the voice that has been commended by the critics of the old world.

Mr. Tout's letter follows:

"London, Jan. 5, 1910.

"Editor of The Standard: I am leaving on the 15th of January or thereabouts for our home in the mountains—dear old Ogden—and with me will be my daughter, Maggie, who, without doubt, is one of the greatest sopranos on the stage at the present time. The object of our visit is to let the people of our home town hear and see that Ogden is second to none for the production of great singers.

"Miss Maggie is a fine artist, and has met and sung for the royalty, and numbers among her friends many of the leaders in the social sets of London and Paris. I will forward you her photo for The Standard, and when I arrive in Ogden will call and tell you many things of interest.

"We will be glad to see our home again, and, I hope, a little snow, which will be the first in nine years.

"Please note that Miss Maggie Tout has been singing under the name of Margaret Romaine. I will forward a wire or card as to when we will arrive in Ogden.

"With the season's greetings and best wishes for a prosperous New Year, believe me,

"Yours very sincerely,

(Signed) "E. F. TOUT."

LONG RUN OF THE AMALGAMATED FACTORIES

The three sugar factories of the Amalgamated Sugar company are still running full force and the secretary of the company states that none of them will cease making sugar before the first of February.

The Ogden factory will continue in operation until about February 10, but the factories in the northern part of the state, at Lewiston and Logan, may possibly get through with the work by the first of February.

It is said that this year's run is the greatest the factories have ever made and, of course, the output of sugar is heavier than in previous years. There are two principal reasons why the factories have had to run a longer period this year than heretofore. First, because the sugar beet crop has been larger, and second, because the continued cold weather of this winter has caused trouble in handling the beets. In some instances, where beets had been stacked at the factory, they became so thoroughly frozen that it was necessary to use powder to loosen them sufficiently from the ground.
